LUNDBRECK BOY

KILLED OVERSEAS

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Diamond, of the Lundbreck district, of the death of their son-in-law, Flight Officer Harry B. Pinneo, in India. He was killed while enroute to Delhi on leave following completion of seventy missions piloting army transports over the Himalayas. Pinneo enlisted in the RCAF in 1941 and was stationed at Macleod, where he met his wife, the former Jeanne Diamond. He returned to the U.S. two years ago and transferred to the army air corps, going overseas last October. He had been awarded the army air medal and DFC, and had been cited for promotion. His wife and infant daughter, two months old, are living in Ottumwa, Iowa.

RE VETERANS AND

EMPLOYMENT

War veterans would be well advised to be thinking about a job before their hard-earned gratuity money slips away. Regional Superintendent Fred White of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, announced on Tuesday. He stated: "It is only natural that after his war experience the ex-serviceman should want to relax and enjoy some rehabilitation leave, but it is a good plan for him to keep in mind his responsibilities for the future."

Mr. White explained that when a man is about to be discharged, he is interviewed by a representative of the local employment office, who advises him of his right to reinstatement, his rights under the unemployment insurance act and opportunities for employment. This interview is more or less preliminary, because at this point the man is more concerned about getting home than he is in getting a job; but once his leave is over, whether he has had a former job or not, he should lose no time in calling at the armed forces registration unit, where, after relating his preference for type of work he is referred to the section handling same.

CRANBROOK DENTIST DIES

Dr. H. L. Large died at Cranbrook on Monday after a long illness, aged 72. He practiced dentistry at Cranbrook from 1925 until his retirement for health reasons over a year ago. Born at Listowel, Ontario, he grew up there and after graduation from the dental college in Detroit practised there for a short time until coming west to Alberta in the early 1900's. He practised at Carstairs, Alberta, for several years, and then at Medicine Hat until 1925, when he moved to Cranbrook.

He was a long-time executive member of the Cranbrook board of trade and was active in community affairs.

Mrs. Large died while they were visiting in Toronto about five years ago, and their eldest son, Dr. Mack Large, died at Kelowna about seven years ago. Two sons survive, R. R. Large, of Fernie, and Pte. Fred Large, with the Canadian army at Calgary.

Funeral services will take place at Shelburne, Ontario, tomorrow, Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Large escorted the body east. Interment will be made in the cemetery where Mrs. Large is buried.—Ex.

MORE GASOLINE FOR

CARS ENTERING U. S.

Welcome news for Alberta motorists who plan to make trips to the United States during the holiday season has just been received by the Alberta Motor Association.

The U.S. authorities have increased the gas allowance for Canadian motorists entering the U.S. Instead of the former 15 gallons allowed, the ration has been increased to 20 gallons, covered by two coupons, each good for 10 U.S. gallons.

While the U.S. gallon is not as heavy as the Canadian, this additional fuel allowance will be welcomed by drivers.

It is all the more so in view of the announcement that the U.S. has relaxed border crossing restrictions on Canadians visiting the U.S. for 29 days or less.

It has been stated that there is no immediate prospect of the gas ration being increased or being lifted in Canada.

Wings Of Mercy

Plane Comes To Rescue When Lives Of Children Were At Stake

Twice in the same week, Trans-Canada Air Lines was called upon by the Winnipeg General Hospital and in both cases lives of children were at stake. The first was the case of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Yells, of Winnipeg, born with a throat obstruction and in need of immediate operation which could be done only by Montreal specialists.

T.C.A. managed to arrange space for the two-day-old child and a nurse and within a matter of hours the infant was in Montreal and the operation was performed immediately.

Two days later, the same hospital was urgently in need of influenza serum and a telephone call was placed to the Children's Memorial hospital in Montreal. Forty minutes after the telephone call, the serum was placed aboard a T.C.A. plane in Montreal, which was held fifteen minutes behind schedule to receive the shipment, and the serum arrived in Winnipeg eight and one-half hours later.

AN OLD HAND

A woman applying for a job with the telephone company was asked if she'd had any such previous experience. "Oh, yes," she said. "I used to work for a professional strong man. I perforated phone books so he could tear them in half."

Chile's production of iron ore is the largest in Latin America.

THE LONG AND THE SHORT—Trans-Canada Air Lines has recently adopted an improved method of ticketing. A single flight coupon for the entire passenger-journey now takes the place of separate coupons to each point on the route. This is accomplished by the arrangement of code designations in small blocks and the use of punches. Time-saving in employee preparation of the new tickets exceeds 75%. Paper costs are reduced by two-thirds. The length of the ticket covering a journey from coast to coast used to measure 2 feet 7 inches, as compared with 9½ inches for the new ticket. Holding samples of the old ticket and the new ticket are, left to right—T. W. Kirkham, supervisor of passenger agents; G. T. Featherstone, revenue accountant; and Percy W. Baldwin, auditor.

Counting Its Losses

Scores Of Historical Buildings In London Damaged By Bombs

When bombs fell on London, landmarks were destroyed, and now that explosives no longer come from the sky the capital is counting its losses, not in dollars but in history.

Buckingham Palace suffered on three occasions. The private chapel was knocked down. The home in Mayfair where the royal couple lived as the Duke and Duchess of York was flattened.

The Houses of Parliament, unmistakable targets on the Thames, were hit early in the war. In May, 1941, St. Stephen's Hall, where the House of Commons met, was reduced to rubble.

Big Ben was shaken and scarred, but survived to boom out the hour of victory just four years later.

Prime Minister Churchill was sure 10 Downing street was a priority target. On one occasion as the bombers swept up the Thames he told a newspaperman "they know very well where this house is and they keep trying to get it."

They almost did, too, in 1940-41 and again in 1944.

Kensington Palace, where a young Victoria was reared from bed one dark morning to learn she was Queen of England, is black now from the flames of incendiaries.

The Tower of London, the Royal Mint, the Imperial War Museum, the Law Courts, Old Bailey Court, Lincoln Inn Fields, where the R.C.A.F. had its wartime headquarters, the British Museum, where two ducks passed through the same hole, and the Royal Albert Hall—were damaged.

Two of the oldest homes in the City were among the first to fall to the blitz. A place in Fetter lane, just off Fleet street, built in 1664 and survivor of the Great Fire of 1666, was leveled in 1941. Similarly, the home of Katherine Parr, the wife who outlived Henry VIII, was razed by a fire bomb. It stood at No. 10 Charterhouse square since 1450.

A GOOD LESSON

The fact that a single bee will not collect more than a teaspoonful of honey in an entire season indicates what can be accomplished with a little effort by a great many.

Race Prejudice

Would Not Exist Among Children Without Idea From Adults

An experiment in race relations in a number of recreation camps in the United States showed that race prejudice would not exist among children if parents or other adults did not put such ideas into their minds. White and negro children visited each other's homes, played together on playgrounds, exchanged and shared toys and generally enjoyed themselves together. A clergyman who helped conduct this experiment remarked "It is only when youngsters grow up and learn from their elders that they acquire the traits and ideas that make for prejudice and ill-will."—Toronto Star.

Uses Of Penicillin

Is Said To Cure Carbuncles And Sore Throat

Sir Alexander Fleming, the discoverer of penicillin, told doctors and surgeons recently that the drug could stop the spread of a carbuncle in two days. He prophesied anyone with a sore throat would just go to a drug store and get a penicillin lozenge and the sore throat would disappear. Enterprising druggists will eventually put a penicillin lipstick on the market. Penicillin is the ideal antiseptic, he said, because it is non-poisonous and because it is impossible to over-dose a patient with it.

Vegetables For Britain

Order Received By Canada For Vegetables To Value Of About $10,500,000

Under the terms of an agreement just completed, the British Ministry of Food will purchase 144,700 bushels of Canadian dried white beans grown in 1945, and such additional quantities as may be made available, from the Special Products Board, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has announced.

The British Ministry will also purchase from the Board from the 1945 crop, 4,375 long tons of dehydrated potatoes and 2,350 long tons of dehydrated cabbage, carrots, turnips and beets. The Ministry agrees to purchase an additional 10 per cent. of these products if available. Total value of the beans and dehydrated vegetables is placed at about $10,500,000.

War Prisoners

U.S. Army Using German Prisoners Of War As Laborers

The United States army disclosed it plans to retain 600,000 German prisoners of war as laborers.

When victory came, American armies held 2,852,000 German war prisoners on the Continent. In addition to the 600,000 to be used by the American army, arrangements have been completed for transferring 200,000 to 225,000 American-held prisoners to France for labor, Col. Robert J. Hill of the US Provost Marshal's Office disclosed at Allied Supreme Headquarters.

Much Slower Now

But Pig Once Won Race With A Horse In Ireland

Pigs are a lot slower than they used to be. In Ireland, 150 years ago, there was a tall, lean, short-eared breed known as the greyhound pig which could run so fast that few dogs could keep up with it.

The greyhound pig was used by sportsmen to lead the hunt and in 1774 the owner of one of these animals won 60 thousand pounds on a race between his pig and a horse. The pig came in first by a few feet.—Pageant.

Re-Elected President

R. M. BROPHY
Is Head Of Radio Manufacturers Association Of Canada

R. M. Brophy, president of Rogers Majestic Limited and Rogers Electronic Tubes Limited, was re-elected as president of the Radio Manufacturers Association of Canada. Also re-elected to the vice-presidency was S. L. Capell, vice-president and general manager of Philco Corporation of Canada Limited. W. W. Richardson was re-appointed general manager of the association.

The 18th annual meeting was held in Niagara Falls, Ont. All Canadian radio manufacturers and most of the leading parts manufacturers were in attendance. Mr. Brophy stated that recent surveys indicate the radio industry has the plant facilities and the manpower to start the production of the radio receiving sets. At present Government orders prohibit such manufacturing, but it is hoped they will soon be rescinded. "There will be many difficult problems to overcome before radio sets will appear on the market," said Mr. Brophy. "There are still shortages of raw materials and components; there will have to be a realignment of plant facilities, etc., but I am confident these will be met speedily and efficiently."

A comprehensive survey conducted for the Radio Manufacturers Association of Canada made by Canadian Facts Limited, revealed that 24% of the radio sets are 10 years old or older; 24% are from 5 to 10 years old; 21% are 3 to 4 years old and about 8% have been bought in the past two years.

GOD'S JOY IN CREATION

Memory Selection: God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good. Genesis 1:31.

Lesson: Genesis 1-3.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 95: 1-4.

GENESIS 1:1 In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. 2 And the earth was waste and void; and the darkness was upon the face of the deep; and the spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. 3 And God said, Let there be light; and there was light. 4 And God saw the light, that it was good; and God divided the light from darkness. 5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning, one day.

10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters he called Seas; and God saw that it was good. 11 And God said, Let the earth put forth grass, herbs yielding seed, and fruit trees bearing fruit after their kind, wherein is the seed thereof, and God saw that it was good. 12 And the earth brought forth grass, herbs yielding seed after their kind, and trees bearing fruit, wherein is the seed thereof, after their kind; and God saw that it was good.

16 And God made the two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night; he made the stars also. 17 And God set them in the firmament of heaven to give light upon the earth, 18 and to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness; and God saw that it was good.

26 And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heaven, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. 27 And God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

31 And God saw everything that he had made, and behold it was very good. And there was evening and there was morning the sixth day.

Owen Roberts, leaning disconsolately against the kitchen door, watched Martha examine the cherry pie. It was not quite done, and she shoved it back into the oven, and turned to him with a mournful laugh. "Here," she said, lifting the baby out of his high chair, "you can hold Michael and tell me what's on your mind while I poke at this roast. Sometimes I think the old oven was better, after all!"

The solid warmth of the little boy was quieting. Owen slipped to a stool and unconsciously relaxed. "Rule number one," he grinned, "don't bring your office worries home. Oh, they're only little things—papers not getting typed—a hundred petty cases—indignant taxpayers wanting to know why the district attorney doesn't win every trial—and another one of those vicious little store robberies."

Martha gasped. "You mean that burglar who ruins everything?" He sighed and gently pressed his necktie from the baby's grasp. "Just like the others—the dress shop with ink poured all over the stock, the neighborhood bakery with the ovens put out of commission. This was a candy store run by a widow. Twenty dollars taken from a can under the counter, boxes smashed, and her account book ripped up." He flushed. "It's every bit as bad as that man into my court," he said energetically. "I'll prosecute as I've never done before, not in my biggest case! That's not burglary! It's wanton destruction. The most he's ever found in a shop is seventy-eight dollars. And people demanding to know why the police can't do something. It's impossible for them to keep an eye on every one of those little shops every minute. Most of them have poor locks and no burglar alarms, and the little ones are the only ones this thief selects."

Martha drained the potatoes into the sink. "You seem very sure it's a man."

"Oh, he was seen last night. That's the worst of it. A high-school boy coming home from a show saw the thief leave the shop and go down the street. The kid didn't think anything of it till today. He was standing on the porch fumbling for his key and saw the fellow distinctly under the street light, for he waited on the corner and got on a north-bound street car. The boy's description isn't any help to us, but he's positive he could recognize him. The biggest clue, I think, is that the fellow is such a despicable type. He'll trip himself up."

The back door opened and Tommy fell in. As he rushed to wash, he shouted over his shoulder details of the movie he had seen downtown with his aunt and cousins, and his report was continued at the table be-between man-sized bites. Martha beamed proudly at him. In spite of his chubbiness he bore a striking resemblance to his father, and the difference in age between her two children made a special place for each of them in her heart. "What did you say about afterwards, Tommy?" she inquired.

"That was the most exciting! A lady fell getting off a bus, and there was a crowd, and people talking, and the driver took everybody's names. He took Aunt Cora's name, too. I don't think she'll be in court? I don't think she'll be in Father's court?"

Owen slapped his hand on the table and uttered a loud oath, for he had struck it on the carving fork. "Tommy," he pronounced solemnly, "you have given me an idea. If it works out, I promise to go with you to the Saturday Wild-Western double feature, even though I can't bear the things."

He grinned mysteriously at Martha, and the grin spread wider after the dishes were done and he was scribbling on small bits of paper which he carefully concealed. "What am I doing? I am inviting the spider," he declared with a threatening sweep of his long arms. "The arisal spider who issues invitations, and tomorrow, darling, I am going to place an ad in the newspaper."

"And so," said Owen two days later, with a triumphant gesture, "he walked right into the house, and as soon as the boy identified him Officer Donovan arrested him. Now he's confined." He pulled a piece of newspaper from his pocket. "What Tommy said about the bus accident gave me the idea, and I stuck this into the Personalities. Will gentlemen who saw lady fall in north-bound Oakland street car evening of June 7 call at 2173 Lake Street. Liberal reward! I knew he was on that line that evening. I guessed that he wouldn't pass up such a chance to get a little money and particularly to make trouble for the company by swearing to anything and everything desired. He's a shrewd fellow—Mrs. Donovan said he kept her going for fifteen minutes telling him a satisfactory story of her fall—let's he'll put away for a long time. And what do you think, mother? I'm going to buy you that electric mixer—it beats, it beats, it cleans—no, it could hardly clean."

Martha pulled him down on the sofa. "No, you don't," she said grimly. "Not another thing for the kitchen. I'm going out to buy a hat and one of those big jeweled spiders to stick on my suit lapel!"

Secrets Of Houdini The Magician
May Never Be Known

The secrets of the legendary legendarium, Houdini, were forever placed beyond the reach of mortal minds with the death at New York of his brother and heir, Theo Hardeen. Hardeen, 60, died in the hospital he entered for an operation. Houdini, master magician of all time, died in 1926. To Hardeen, an eminent prestidigitator in his own right, he bequeathed his tricks and arts, stipulating that on the latter's death they should go to the grave with him.

Through the intervening 19 years, Hardeen complied with terms of the will. No one but himself knew how he, or Houdini, escaped from inside trunks, locked trunks or sealed chambers.

But only understanding neighbors can help the veterans to pick up the threads of civilian life. It's up to you." It is only in the absence of these that dictators can arise, and, by holding out promises of easy and quick ways of doing things, seize power. Democracy may be slow to act, but its delay is often due to the fact that public opinion is not so quickly made up as a brain trust's mind. This is not proof of inefficiency, but a great safeguard of free society."

A Plan For Beautification Of Urban And Rural Homes

The Lethbridge Herald relates a story about a man in Seville to back up its point that more people should paint more buildings and homes to make Canada a brighter and more cheerful place.

"There was once a citizen of Seville about to paint his house in accordance with the time honored custom that requires a yearly application in that city of gardens and flowers of bright color to the facade of every home.

"The painter came to the door and courteously inquired: 'What color, Senor?'"

"Ask my neighbor across the street, for he is the one who will have to bear it," replied the owner without a minute's hesitation."

It's the neighbors alongside and across the street who have to put up with the shabby-looking houses, says the Herald. Nothing is more of an eye-sore than a couple of dilapidated, unpainted houses in a block alongside of homes that are kept looking bright and neat through frequent painting.

"This may be interpreted as a book for the paint dealers," says the Herald. "Rather it is promotional material for beautification of our rural and urban homes. It has to do with the need of freshening up the appearance of houses and other buildings that look very shabby because paint hasn't been applied to them for too a long time."

Treasure Ship

Locate Sunken Pirate Ship Off The New England Coast

Edward Rowe Snow, New England coastal historian, says he believes he has located a treasure-laden pirate ship in 14 feet of water, 45 miles off Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod.

He said that two divers, Al and Bill George, brought up coins from the sunken craft. The vessel, he added, was discovered originally in 1879 when a chest of coins was surfaced from the ship.

He explained the new find was made while divers were attempting to identify positively the hull of a vessel believed to be the steamship Portland, which sank in a storm in 1898 with the loss of many lives.

Demand For Eggs

Need Every Egg Possible For Food Supply

In an endeavour to convey to egg producers in Canada the urgency of obtaining from existing flocks every egg possible this year and of conserving its quality right through to the consumer, the Egg and Poultry Market Report of the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, emphasizes the necessity of making every egg count. The overall need for food is the justification for this appeal at this time.

Europe needs food, particularly animal proteins, and there is not enough food of that kind in sight to meet all requirements in the next six months.

Great Britain has provided liberally of her supplies for military relief in European countries. As a result she has already been forced to reduce rations for her own people. Eggs are an important asset in providing needed proteins. The need now is even greater than during the European war. Every effort is required, therefore, to see that all possible eggs be produced by existing flocks and not one egg that is produced be lost either through deterioration in quality or through breakage.

Plague Of Tent Caterpillars Now Prevalent In Canada

A caterpillar plague is prevalent in Canada from the maritimes as far west as Edmonton and is spreading farther westward and southward into regions previously uninfested, the entomological branch of the agricultural department warned.

A departmental spokesman said this summer seems to be the peak of a three-year cycle when tent caterpillars are most numerous. For some reason, the pests increase over three-year cycles and then seem to die off until the next cycle begins.

RECONSTRUCTION

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY

"Are you there where your country needs you? Are you doing your bit?" This is the question that is being asked of every Canadian citizen. It is the question that is being asked of every Canadian citizen. It is the question that is being asked of every Canadian citizen.

Some will say, "Why don't the bosses give us a square deal? We're just cogs in a wheel—nobody appreciates us."

Others will say, "Go easy, the more we give the more they want. Where would they be without our brains and the money we put into the business?"

To build the new world men have dreamed for, all of us, both labor and management will have to meet, above all differences, with a greater common objective. We can learn to see the other fellow's point of view on a thing, what's right, not what's right for us. In the war, when we all remember we are Canadians first and foremost, our volume of production is a direct reflection in victory. Everybody works hard and pulls together. To win the peace, we need to remember the same thing. We must keep our spirits up, keep our own backs straight, and we must help others. In the war, leadership of Canada's industry can be the decisive factor in victory. Our business is the world's call for help and aid.

Sure, there is work enough to do in this country. Industry's true duty of making the work and wealth of the world available for all, and for the exploitation of more, can grip our minds and muscles. In power days all worked together to fill the daily needs of the community; latterly the battle for the lion's share of the profits has raged so fiercely that we have lost the unselfish spirit of the pioneers. This spirit cannot be bought with dollars—it lies deep in our heart's desire to work for the good of humanity.

Only a new spirit in men can bring a new spirit in industry. As teamwork is pioneered by Canadian industry, so it will start to grow between the nations. International conferences can become, not battles for markets, but an alliance for service. When all plan for everyone to be adequately warmed, fed and clothed, trade will cease to divide the United Nations, and instead will unite the world.

With this spirit in Canada lies our one hope of winning the peace, and securing it for ourselves and for our children.

SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND

Within the next six months the Canadian committee of the Save the Children Fund hopes to obtain 200 Canadian sponsors for refugee European children now being sheltered in Sweden. Mr. Justice J. C. McRuer, committee chairman, has announced.

One child can be sponsored for a year at a cost of $80. The sponsor cannot adopt the child, but will receive a certificate giving the child's name, age and nationality. He will later receive the child's picture.

"More than 70,000 innocent, bewildered children from war ravaged countries have come across the borders into Sweden," says Mr. McRuer's announcement. "They are destitute, helpless victims of war with no one but strangers to turn to for their basic need of life. Many are wee children. The total is so tremendous that the burden must be accepted by people everywhere."

All over Sweden families have taken in these children, thus accepting responsibility for the care of many thousands. The children are cared for in camps, under the care of competent women. Food, clothing and other essentials are acquired largely by donations.

With the help of organizations such as the Save the Children Fund, an international body for the relief of children suffering because of the war, the cost of necessary materials has been so reduced that it is possible to keep each child in comfort, with proper food, sufficient clothing and medical care at a cost of only $80 for one year.

Anyone wishing to sponsor one of these little refugees can obtain all necessary information by writing to: Scott Montgomery, secretary, Save the Children Fund, 220 Bay St., Toronto. It is hoped, the announcement continues, that the children sponsored will be able to write letters expressing their appreciation in their own words.

The Uses Of Propaganda

PROPAGANDA HAS BECOME ONE of the most powerful weapons of modern warfare, and it has played a highly important part in the present conflict. Through the clever use of propaganda, Hitler built up his regime in Germany, and spread the legend of Nazi superiority at home and abroad. By the same means, the Germans attempted to break the morale of the Allied armies, and to spread fear and discouragement among the civilian populations of all countries who opposed Germany. They used it also in repeated efforts to sow seeds of doubt and distrust among the United Nations. The Allies have likewise made much use of propaganda against both Germany and Japan. The effect of this weapon on the final outcome of the war may never be fully determined, but the extent to which it is used is evidence that it is regarded as a valuable means of attack, and the dissemination of propaganda has become a highly specialized branch of modern warfare.

Is Used Not Only For War

Because of the uses to which propaganda is put in time of war, there is a tendency to associate it only with evil purposes. On the contrary, it is often used to spread helpful and authentic information, and also as a counter-measure against enemy misrepresentations. Indeed, it is used as often to build public morale and to establish confidence between nations, as for destruction. One authority has defined propaganda as "an organized scheme to establish a doctrine or practice." There is need in time of peace, as well as in war, to keep the people constantly aware of certain facts, and an organized scheme to bring to the attention of the public the need for tolerance, understanding, and good citizenship might be a powerful factor in laying the foundation for permanent peace.

Great Need For Re-Education

There are many means by which propaganda is spread. The press and the radio are the most obvious outlets, but in Germany, Hitler demonstrated the great power of propaganda in the school room. He would doubtless also have used the pulpit for the same purpose had the churches been sympathetic to his doctrines. All these channels have been used in democratic countries to spread the principles upon which national well-being and international security are based; but if the same skill and effort were put into propaganda of this nature, as is put into making it a weapon of war, the effect would doubtless be much greater. More important than this, however, will be the use of propaganda in re-educating the people of Germany and Japan, and in counteracting the deep impression made by those who have sought to destroy everything related to the democratic way of life. It is clear that propaganda is an important weapon of peace, as well as of war.

His Little Speech

Eisenhower Paid Highest Tribute To Fighting Forces Of Britain

The London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal, says: The unanimous decision to confer the honorary freedom of the city of London and a sword of honor on Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was a foregone conclusion, but never in all its long history has London paid tribute to a more distinguished freeman.

As Allied Supreme Commander in the West, Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower has won immense popularity as well as undying fame. His genius as an organizer, his judgment and vision as a military strategist and his tremendous drive have been associated with a tactful geniality and a masterful firmness of command which not many men in history could have equalled.

Curiously enough no paper published the little speech made on V-night, yet it contained the highest tribute ever paid to the fighting forces of Britain. "I thank God," declared the Supreme Commander, "that we had the British fighting with us."

Conditions Better

Many Things In Britain Indicate A Return To Normal

The New York Herald Tribune says although many war-time restrictions still remain in effect in England, there are indications of a return to peace-time conditions in several fields. The lights, including that over Big Ben, have gone on again. A firm which had been making parts for airplanes and submarines is now producing combs. And the Loch Ness monster has been sighted again.

A Fitting Tribute

French Villagers Honor Canadians On Anniversary Of D-Day

Villagers of Bernieres sur Mer gathered at sunrise on June 6 in front of their invasion-scarred stone houses to pay simple homage to Canadian soldiers who stormed ashore as Liberators on D-Day.

With heads bowed, the villagers stood on the beach among the twisted hulks of landing craft still lying half-buried in the white sand, and offered a silent prayer for all who brought them freedom from across the grey channel waters. Theirs must have been the most moving of all D-Day anniversary celebrations in France.

Uprightness as it was, the moment of meditation by humble Normans seemed a more fitting tribute to the memory of our fallen fighting men than all the brass bands and flamboyant speeches.

There was a piano on the beach. Men of a British garrison brought it and one of them accompanied the singing of hymns. Then the crowd walked slowly the 500 yards to the town square, following in the path of three tracked vehicles carrying Canadian soldiers.

The common life is said to have come from Persia in the 16th century.

CHECKERS—IN A BIG WAY.—Railway shopmen are usually ingenious fellows who can do things with their hands. Even when it comes to such a parlor game as checkers, the boys at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Weston shops in Winnipeg decided to do things in a big way, designing and building a cement "board" 10 foot, eight inches square, surrounded by a three-foot sidewalk, and squares of 10 inches. Players pick up the "men", which are 10 inches in diameter and three inches deep with long poles, moving them about as on any other checkerboard. Outdoor checkers, Weston style, threatens to develop into a major spectator sport, since invariably there is a vocal gallery of "experts", second-guessing the players. Above is a typical noon-hour scene at the big railway shops, since the giant board made its debut. Standing at left is Dave Warner, coach shop foreman, who designed it. M. Masik, the player actually seen making his move, is receiving the usual advice from "the bleachers".

Garden Without Soil

Grow Vegetables And Flowers By Using Chemicals

Perfect vegetables and flowers are being grown in England without soil. The new process is the work of a well-known British scientist, S. R. Mulard, the radio valve pioneer.

The plants are grown in coarse shingle in a concrete tank and are fed only by a nutrient chemical solution which at intervals is pumped from the bottom upwards by a tiny electric motor.

The process demands little labour since a special cut-out device shuts off the current and stops the pump as soon as the tank is sufficiently full.

Mr. Mulard has made an offer to the Ministry of Labour to train suitable ex-service men in the art of soil-less cultivation so that they can in turn become instructors.

Developed In Britain

Washing Machine Has Many Technical Devices Which Are New

A new revolutionary type of electric washing machine, developed in the United Kingdom, will make press-button laundering a possibility for every housewife. The machine applies to laundering the principle of the ship's screw in the form of an impeller device, which is far more efficient than the older agitator device which it replaces. Other new technical devices incorporated are an exceptionally lightweight "speed reducer," a new form of clutch and an automatic, completely foolproof safety device on the attached wringer. Starting with about 1,000 machines a week, production will be rapidly stepped up to between 100,000 and 150,000 a year.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Willie: "Charlie Chaplin, Miss, 'cause he ain't dead!"

"Well, he is rather hard of hearing."

Matron—I'd like to get a book. Librarian—Something light, or heavy?

Matron—Doesn't matter. I have my car outside.

Mistress: "I am sorry you are leaving us, Jane. But, of course, if you are going to better your self."

Maid: "Oh, no, Madam. I am going to be married."

Gruff Father (to son): "Why don't you get out and find a job? When I was your age I was working for $5 a week in a shop, and at the end of five years I owned the shop."

Son: "You can't do that nowadays. They have cash registers."

The six-year-old was seated at the breakfast table one morning, when, as usual, eggs were served. The little tot surveyed them, for a moment and solemnly said: "I wish to goodness bees would lay something besides eggs."

Jim: "Do you work long hours?" Joe: "No. Only the regulation length—60 minutes each."

Plans Are Made For Training Of Pacific Force

WASHINGTON.—Maj.-Gen. Bertram M. Hoffmeister, commander of the Sixth Canadian division, disclosed that his force will start training for the Pacific war early in September at Fort Breckinridge, Ky.

The 38-year-old officer also revealed at a news conference that 28,000 battle-hardened Canadian veterans of the war in Europe have already volunteered for service in the Pacific. His force will consist of about 30,000.

The Canadian unit will be under over-all American command and will use American equipment except for uniforms. Canada will pay the cost of the equipment.

"I believe that this is the first time in history that two countries have ever co-operated so closely in a case of this kind," Hoffmeister said.

The Canadian veterans who will fight with the Sixth are now being brought back to Canada from Europe and will be given 30 days furlough before they start training at Breckinridge. The Canadian unit will be largely infantry but will have some tanks, Hoffmeister said.

However, he refused to disclose how long the training period would be or when his unit would be ready for action.

He said the Royal Canadian Air Force would operate in the Pacific in co-operation with the R.A.F. but that his division would receive its air support from American fliers.

Replacements for the Canadian division will be trained at American replacement centres at a rate fast enough to keep the unit at full strength.

Several score Canadian instructors, who have had experience in the Pacific war, will train the replacements. Hoffmeister commanded the Fifth division in Europe. He said that he was leaving Washington for his home in Vancouver.

"We are most enthusiastic over the task and very eager to get on with it," Hoffmeister said. "But right now I hope to get a spot of leave—I will be the first in six years—before I undertake this training program."

"Once it starts, I think we can gain time because of the high percentage of veteran fighters we'll have in the force."

WORK INVALUABLE

Japanese-Canadian Soldiers Taking Part In War Effort.

KASLO, B.C.—Twelve Japanese-Canadian soldiers who volunteered for overseas duties left Toronto last March. The New Canadian, Japanese weekly newspaper published here, said.

In an editorial, The New Canadian said an undisclosed number of volunteers are in training at various points. Exact nature of their work was unknown "beyond the fact that it is invaluable in carrying on the war to its successful conclusion."

The paper continued: "To many of them it has been a long wait—ever since the autumn of 1939 when they first volunteered and were refused."

"Their feelings may be difficult to understand for some of the older Japanese, or for the disillusioned Nisei . . . but they are showing by their action in which direction they believe their duty to lie."

GERMAN STEEL PLANT

Fate Of Krupp Industry To Be Decided By Britain

21ST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Germany.—A responsible informant said the British cabinet must pass a sentence of "life or death" upon the German Krupp industrial empire.

Whether production will be resumed at any of the Krupp steel plants in the Ruhr and elsewhere in the British occupation zone is a decision that must be made in London and not by field officials, it was said.

The Krupp management recently petitioned the United States 15th army for permission to begin manufacturing German communications equipment for peacetime needs of the allied military government and German civilians. The Americans since have yielded the Ruhr to British occupation. The informant said the "decision was a 'waste motion'."

WOULD OUT TARIFF

WASHINGTON.—The U.S. senate gave President Truman a major foreign policy victory by voting his authority to cut off tariff rates 50 per cent. below Jan. 1 levels.

Movement Of Western Grain Going To Europe

WINNIPEG.—Grain for Europe is rolling across the prairies, millions of bushels moving toward lakehead ports in a record movement from western elevators.

It is estimated that some 14,500 box cars loaded with 25,000,000 bushels of grain are on the railroads of western Canada. Every day some 1,500 cars are loaded on the prairies, with each car holding about 1,850 bushels.

Practically all of the grain is destined for Europe, to feed the hungry millions in war-torn countries.

The grain movement represents billions of loaves of bread. Day and night western elevators are working, and all available cars have been mobilized to handle the shipments.

In two months, stocks in country elevators have dropped from 197,000,000 bushels to 127,000,000—representing a rail movement of 70,000,000 bushels.

Grain men reported continuation of heavy export business during the last month, and since the opening of navigation nearly 150,000,000 bushels of all grains have moved from lakehead ports.

The movement promises to exceed the record crop year of 1928 when some 385,081,000 bushels were handled. Last year shipments totalled 455,961,722 bushels, and transport authorities expect to handle 475,000,000 this year.

FATE OF AIRCREWS

Inquiry Is Commenced To Learn About Missing Men

LONDON.—A research and inquiry service to establish the fate of aircrews reported missing from flights over Europe has been set up by the air ministry in conjunction with dominion authorities, the air ministry announced.

The service already is at work throughout France, Luxembourg and Belgium. Holland will be covered next, then Norway and finally Germany. A similar organization is working in the Balkans.

In view of the large number of cases for attention and the wide area covered, some time will elapse before a review of all cases can be completed, the statement added.

HAPPY HOMECOMING FOR CANADIAN AIRMEN.—Gathered on the sports deck of the troopship Louis Pasteur to listen to Air Vice-Marshal A. L. Morfee, commander-in-chief, Eastern Air Command, bid them welcome to Canada, these airmen are part of a group of more than 1,000 R.C.A.F. officers and air crews released from Nazi prison camps. From Halifax, where the Pasteur docked, they are being speeded as rapidly as possible to homes throughout the Dominion. Many of the men spent as long as three years in prison camps.

THE FIRST OF THE FOUR BIG LANCASTERS which arrived at Dartmouth, N.S., from overseas on Friday, June 8, is shown being directed to its proper place by an R.C.A.F. Dartmouth control tower man. This plane, "O for Oboe", was the first of the homecoming Lancasters to land in Canada. One of thirteen planes of the Ghost squadron of the R.C.A.F.'s No. 6 Bomber Group, it and three others landed at Dartmouth and the other nine went on to Yarmouth, N.S., the same day. Two others which started out from the U.K. failed to reach Canada. One ditched in the sea near the Azores, but none of the crew was injured. The second was held up at the Azores because of mechanical trouble.

BRITAIN TO INDIA

Troops Are Being Moved In Giant R.A.F. Transport Planes

AIR COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Southeast Asia.—Giant R.A.F. transport planes are flying troops straight out from Britain in five days to take part in the great "finish-off-the-Japs" offensive. The vanguard of this army of reinforcements is already in India and more and more are arriving touching down with clockwork regularity at Karachi airport.

For most of the reinforcements this bewilderingly swift transfer from Britain to the tropics is their first experience of air travel. The 6,000-mile flight has a great effect on their morale. The fact that they can be with their families one week-end and in India the next, makes some seem just around the corner. They are arriving here in far better spirits than men who used to make the month-long sea trip.

The flying-shuttle service isn't anything like its full stride yet and it will soon be bringing out 10 times as many men as are now arriving. There is no doubt that this is going to prove a decisive factor in the swift defeat of Japan.

DISCOVER LOOT

A German Cache Yields Much Hidden Wealth

PARIS.—American troops of the 12th corps have found securities, gold and jewelry valued at more than $5,000,000 hidden by the Germans at Regensburg, communications zone headquarters announced.

Included in the capture in hidden vaults of the Regensburg Reichsbank was the national wealth of Bavaria and Austria. The cache was estimated to be more valuable than that found April 7 in the Merken salt mine, which included 200 tons of gold.

The treasure was in gold bullion, stolen jewelry and securities.

To Take Action On Fraudulent Sales Of Stock

OTTAWA.—Action of numerous eastern American states in taking steps to forbid all sales of Canadian mining, oil and other venture stocks within their jurisdictions has apparently speeded up slow-moving machinery of the U.S. state department and the Canadian department of external affairs to get busy on long delayed amendments to the extradition treaty between the two nations.

The amended treaty, aimed to include operations of fly-by-night salesmen of fake and fraudulent mining, oil and like stocks has been a subject of discussion between the two departments without result since 1942. Officials of each country are inclined to lay the blame for the delay on the other.

According to Canadian sources, it is the rigid provisions of the United States federal exchange and security act which have been the stumbling block in the way of implementing the new extradition treaty. The United States federal act requires such voluminous detailed and periodic reports on corporation stocks offered for sale in inter-state commerce that it has long been a subject of loud complaint from American speculative companies.

Though Canadian stock salesmen, naturally, are liable under the same act when operating within U.S. jurisdiction, the trouble has been to separate the sheep from the goats. Salesmen of dishonest and fraudulent stocks operating from Canada by means of the mails or long distance telephone, might be indicted by a U.S. grand jury but could not be brought from Canada to face trial in the U.S., since the extradition treaty between the two nations did not cover their case. The U.S. federal exchange and security act describes as offences many acts of stock selling which are not offences under the Canadian criminal code. This applies particularly to such items as failure to make certain detailed and periodic reports on company structure and finance.

When the proposed new extradition treaty was first drafted, there were no objections from many Canadian financial and underwriting agencies in Montreal and Toronto. They argued that reputable brokers in Canada writing, or telephoning to their customary clients in New York, especially might suddenly find themselves hauled across the border to face charges of fraud which they were unaware had been committed under U.S. laws.

Once, long ago, on top of Vinny Ridge, there was a spot where a communication trench joined the front line, and it bore the sign, "Corner of Portage and Main." To Winnipeggers the world over this familiar sign means home. Here Roy Locksley, who conducts CBC's network series, "Winnipeg Presents," Sundays 10:30 p.m. CDT, stands at the historic corner pondering on a theme.

FARM LAND SETTLEMENT

The Alberta government is holding in reserve exclusively for the settlement of returning active service personnel certain crown lands which are suitable for agriculture. Much of this land has already been soil surveyed and will be available to veterans in half-section parcels under the following conditions:

The settler will live on the land for the first three years under a lease without payment of rent or taxes. In each of the succeeding seven years he will pay as rent, no taxes extra, one-eighth of his crop if the crop averages more than five bushels to the acre. If the crop does not average five bushels he will pay no rent.

The lease will be drawn for each individual settler to meet the specific local conditions of soil productivity, improvements, etc. At the end of his ten-year tenure, if the conditions have been met, the veteran settler will be given free title to his land.

The government desires to have its land settled by veterans on a basis which will keep them free from debt. Arrangements have been made with the Dominion government whereby a maximum grant of $2,320 will be made to any veteran who accepts land under the Alberta programme.

A MESSAGE TO ALL NEWLY DISCHARGED SERVICEMEN

Civil life has its booby traps too. Be careful. Be on your guard against plausible strangers with plans for spending your hard earned gratuity, your Victory Bonds, your savings. Be on your guard against "friendly" tips on sure things, and schemes to double your money. And if you decide to embark on some new enterprise of your own get all the facts and weigh them—in advance.

Talk your plans over with someone you trust and whose business judgment you respect. If you think we can help, call on the manager of any branch. He will feel privileged to help you in any way he can.

The manager of every branch of The Royal Bank of Canada has been informed of this invitation and joins in extending it to you.
